

Source Command to Provide Inputs for Variables

- We define inputs into a file, then we use them in scripts using source command
- Syntax :
 - `source fileName`
- How Source Command Works ?
 - Source Command reads and executes the file content in the current shell.
- Note: When we use this concept?
 - Common Variables across environment
 - Common Variables based on environment
 - Common Variables for multiple-scripts